

Supporting A&D activities in the UK and Europe

AGR's TRACS Evaluations provide a range of confidential services to support commercial activities at all stages of the E&P life cycle. Our experience in the UK and Europe (initially as TRACS International, and later as part of the AGR Group) spans 20 years and covers the full spectrum from single asset to complex portfolios.

OPPORTUNITIES

The UK and Europe have a long history of exploration and production. Mature assets bring not only challenges but significant opportunities.

With the benefit of advanced technologies, new plays are opening up and resources, previously inaccessible, are now within reach.

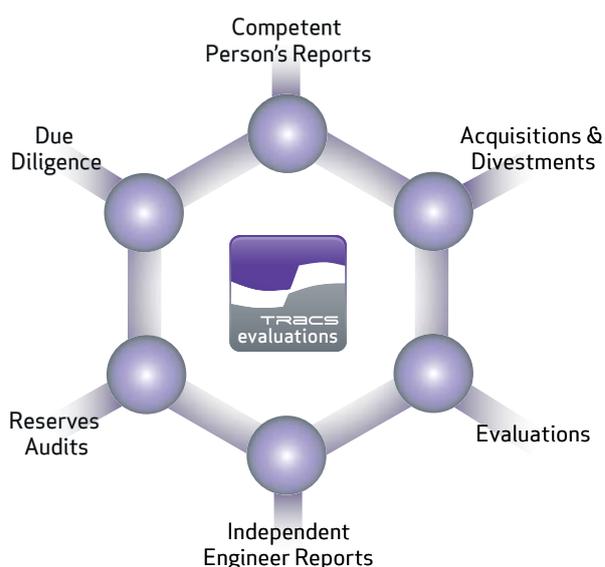

With the revitalisation of existing infrastructure and sanction of new developments, there are still many opportunities to expand portfolios and invest in new projects.

EXPERIENCE

Our evaluation teams consist of commercial and technical specialists with global experience in subsurface analysis and commercial evaluations. A significant proportion of this has been in the North Sea and we have worked on or evaluated all the main reservoir types for most of the North Sea operators. We also have experience of reservoirs onshore UK and Europe and can evaluate unconventional petroleum plays and can identify ways of improving recovery through technology solutions.

SERVICES

We provide a range of services to support Acquisitions and Divestments, reserves-based lending and other commercial activities.

INNOVATION

Through their extensive experience, AGR's multi-disciplinary teams have developed innovative tools and techniques to evaluate mature assets and portfolios. These allow our specialists to focus on remaining reserves and resources, identify production upside and recognise missed or stranded pay.
